About five months since, the young girl whose name we suppress for obvious reasons, became ill, which excited the earness solicitude of her parents. Counseling with an eminent physician, they indeed learned that the child was sick—sick with share and approaching disgrace. It was the old-old story. The children had loved, not wisely, but too well, and in an unbappy moment had strayed from the path of virtue and rectitude.

The parents of the two children met.

Both were highly respectable, and the only proper thing to be done was to have their oblidren married, which was accordingly done, but they were not permitted to live together, it being believed that the newly-married couple were entirely too young.

Since the marriage the youthful harband has been going to the bad, drinking arcessively, and keeping the compeny of the low and deprayed, and spending his nights in low drinking salona.

Finding that he could do nothing with his son, his father finally resolved to have him arrested, and a few evenings since he was caucht, and seen the night at the (II, Waykesha county, Wis, March 27) What floor would you recommend for horses to stand on? Horses should stand on a perfectly level

Horace should stand on a perfectly level theor, this being the only means for securing perfect comfort and rest. Nothing would be more fatiguing to a man than to stand with his tons slightly elevated, and the position becomes even more unbatural in the case of a quadruped, as an inclined floor obliges him to keep his balance by assuming an unnatural position. At the same time an inclination of one inch in the case of the proper manner. Together the father and proper manner. Together the father and length of six feet can do no material.

same time an inclination of one inch in a longth of aix feet can do no material harm, and is quite sufficient for perfect drainage. The best wooden floor that we have seen has an inclination of one and a half inches. On this are natical state two inches wide and one inch apart, two inches thick at the rear and only half an inch at the front. These should be made of hard wood to stand the wear. By this arrangement the horse stands level and the urine flows off through the spaces between the lare.

four o'clock the novices, cross bearers, bishop, priests, bearing candles, entered the chapel, the choir singing the hymn "O Glorioss." After appropriate ceremonies the novices were presented with the holy candles and relired to put loff their secular drees, and in a short time reappeared, habited in the garb of flisters of Mercy. Kneeling before the bishop, the cancture was placed about the waists of the novices, and they received the blessing of the bishop. The church cloak, of white material, was placed upon the novices, and they prostrated themselves before the bishop and were sprinkled with holy water.
